BLIZZARDS ROAR ACROSS U. S. AND CANADA

TEMPERATURES GO TO SUB-ZERO LEVELS TODAY

THREE DEATHS REPORTED OVER CANADIAN LINE, WHERE STORMS RAGED IN FURY

SNOW 2 TO 6 INCHES DEEP OVER IN NEBRASKA, KANSAS AND MISSOURI

Chicago, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Blizzards roared across a vast section of the United States and Canada today, dropping a thick blanket of snow over most of the area between the Rocky mountains and the Illinois-Indiana line and sending temperatures to sub zero levels.

In places where the icy blasts had exhausted their burden of snow, they hurled up drifts and packed roads and streets with solid barriers.

Three deaths had been reported over the Canadian line, where the storm had beaten with more fury. A Winnipeg fisherman, Jacob K. Schmidt, died of exposure, after the blizzard caught him while mending nets, and two other fishermen were frozen to death in a camp on the shore of Lake Winnipeg.

Three other fishermen, John Hanson, Harold Johnson and a man known only as "Old Peek," were believed lost on Lake Superior. They left Bayfield, Wis., in a small boat during a heavy snowstorm several days ago bound for Manitou island and had not been heard from. Searchers said there was little hope that they were alive if they were on the lake.

Wyoming stockmen were battling the worst blizzard of the year, fearful of further heavy inroads in herds and flocks. The mercury was hovering around the zero mark in many parts of the state.

Colorado awoke to find the twelfth snowfall of the season, after a mild Thanksgiving.

Temperatures dropped as much as 25 degrees in a few hours. Miners in mountain camps hastily began stocking up with provisions, in the belief the snow soon would wall them in. Beet farmers saw their belated harvest postponed again.

Snow from two to six inches deep lay over most of Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, the first heavy snow fall of the winter. Cold winds whipped the plains cities and piled the streets with drifts.

St. Louis had six inches of snow and almost as much had fallen at Columbia and Jefferson City, Mo., there was no fall at Kansas City. Ice lay on top of the snow in many Nebraska areas, impeding traffic.

Snow was expected in the panhandle of Texas.

The Dakotas were lashed by blizzards and a gale swept Iowa. Fresh winds increased suffering in the Great Lakes region. Although Chicago had little snow, other parts of Illinois had from one to four inches.

Duluth, Minn., was the coldest spot in the United States yesterday, with 14 degrees below zero, while it was 24 below at White River, Ont.

The mercury in the Chicago area went down with the coming of dawn, indicating the weather bureau said, that the cold wave from the north has hit in full force.

The temperature at 6 a. m. was 4 above but at 7 had slipped down three degrees.

More than 500 persons were taken care of in police stations during the night and every furnace room grating in the Loop bore its complement of shivering humanity.

St. Paul, Nov. 29. — Freezing Arctic winds that took four lives in western Canada swooped down on Minnesota and the mid-west today to cause intense suffering and drop temperatures generally well below zero for new all-time November records.

The lowest temperatures in the Canadian northwest were at Winnipeg and Minnedosa, Man., where 20 degrees below zero was recorded early today. Reports reaching Winnipeg said at least 10 persons were frozen to death in recent cold waves in that region.

The temperature at Duluth, Minn., dropped to 16 below as wintry winds swept over Lake Superior and sent all tardy shipping vessels scurrying to port. Several other Minnesota and North Dakota districts had temperatures ranging to 12 below.

Relief from the cold wave will not arrive until Saturday, according to the United States weather bureau forecast here. General temperatures of zero and below were predicted for tonight.

No deaths were reported from the frozen prairies of Minnesota and North Dakota, although motor car traffic was nearly abandoned and scores of automobiles were stalled with frozen radiators. Train and motor bus service was continued with little delay.

BROKEN ROMANCE OF POLA NEGRI IN PARIS DIVORCE COURT

Paris, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — The broken romance of Pola Negri and the Georgian prince, Serge Mdivani, finally reached Paris' divorce courts today when attorneys for the moving picture actress filed papers charging incompatibility.

Princess Negri, when informed by the United Press today that his wife had filed the papers of the suit, said:

"I certainly won't oppose the suit. She really is kind to sue on grounds of incompatibility. She could have used many other reasons. She is a charming woman, but we are not mates."

MISSISSIPPI RIVER REPORTED AT ITS LOWEST STAGE

PLANTS AFFECTED BY LACK OF WATER INCLUDE NORTHWEST PAPER CO. AT BRAINERD

LACK OF RAIN IN MISSISSIPPI BASIN AFFECTED RESER- VOIR SUPPLY

St. Paul, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — With the Mississippi river at the lowest stage in its history, with one exception, power plants and paper mills in Minnesota were seriously handicapped today in their operations.

With the water level at —24 on the Mississippi here, Twin City power plants were hard hit, particularly those which provide motive power for the huge Minneapolis flour mills and the street car lines.

Although the government has six reservoirs which would materially help raise the water levels, Col. Wilbur Willing, U. S. engineer of the Minnesota district said the water would not be released at this time because it would seriously harm river navigation next spring and summer.

Among the plants affected by lack of water were those at Blanchard Rapids, Little Falls, St. Cloud, Grand Rapids, Brainerd and Wabab.

Lack of rain in the basin this fall was given as the cause of the low water supply.

HALF MILLION TO AID CONSTRUCTING ST. PAUL RIVER LOCKS

Washington, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Allotment of $500,000 for the construction of the first of two locks contemplated for the Twin City lock and dam project on the Mississippi river at St. Paul, Minn., was approved today by Acting Secretary of War Hurley.

The single lock and dam at St. Paul collapsed August 19, 1929. It is being replaced by a double lock for which $800,000 previously had been made available. The war department said these funds were allotted from the indefinite appropriation for operation and care of locks and dams.

Seven Bus Passengers and Driver Overcome by Carbon Monoxide

Cleveland, O., Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Seven passengers aboard a Pittsburgh-Detroit Colonial stage coach were overcome by carbon monoxide gas fumes today when the bus pulled into a garage here for repairs.

The fumes are believed to have poured into the closed bus from beneath. Six passengers and the driver were overcome. Two of the seven were women. They were treated at a hospital with oxygen and were removed from danger.

Victims of the gas included: Miss Maria Hantula, 24, Amasa, Mich.; William Anderson, 24, Detroit; Pedro Muner, Detroit; H. E. Manion, 51, Detroit; and Frank E. Motter, 35, driver of the bus, who lives in Youngstown, Ohio.

ENTIRE CREW LOST AS RUSS FREIGHTER SINKS

Moscow, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — The freighter Third Internationale en route down the Onega river from Kem, sank in the White sea today.

Reports indicated the entire crew was lost.

One death was reported here as an indirect result of the cold wave. Daniel Dunn of St. Paul was fatally injured when struck by an automobile driven by H. P. Arenson of Newport, Minn.

Dunn was said to have been crossing the streets with his hands over his face to protect himself from the cold when he was struck. Arenson took the victim to a hospital immediately after the accident.

PEONAGE RULE BY SWITCH AND RIFLE IN OZARKS

THE WHISPERINGS OF A WOMAN DRAGGED FROM CABIN BARE SUCH RULE

KANSAS CITY JOURNAL-POST TELLS TALE OF ALLEGED FLOGGING AND MURDER

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Whisperings of a woman, dragged from a squalid cabin in the St. James hills of northern Arkansas and flogged have bare peonage rule by switch and rifle in the hands of Ozark land barons, the Kansas City Journal-Post said today.

These barons, the Dry Creek and Cagin Creek clans of secluded settlements in the mountains near Mountain View, Ark., are being questioned in the torture murder of Connie Franklin, war veteran.

Franklin was beaten, mutilated and placed upon a fiery pyre before the eyes of 16-year-old Tiller Rominer, the girl who mFranklin, a psychopathic sufferer and frantic, had the audacity to love in the face of the asserted "rights to women" by the clan.

Franklin screamed and begged for mercy as his tormentors plied a knife through his flesh and tossed him on a log fire while they forced the girl to look on. His screams echoed through the woods and through the chinks of cabins to ears of hill dwellers but with club and gun the clan commanded silence.

"I heered Connie," Mrs. Charles Rumer, mother of the girl, revealed, "but I wuz afeared them fellers wanted to git my man, and I wouldn't leave him go."

Mrs. Bertha Burns, 80, and her 80-year-old husband who had seen the clan rule from generation to generation, also heard. They were promptly warned, and flogged.

Mrs. Burns got her revenge. Afraid to go directly to officers, 1 miles away "as the crow flies," she whispered at every turn of that "awful happening last March." Franklin was murdered on March 9, "a right smart while after sunset."

Only hinting at first, Mrs. Burns later was instrumental in supplying evidence that crime actually had been committed in the thicket where the charred bones of Franklin laid.

As a result five members of the Cabin Creek and Cagin Creek clans are held in the county jail at Mountain View, including Alec Fulks, alleged ring leader. They are charged with first degree murder. Others are sought.

The most damaging evidence against Fulks was given by "Uncle" Lousaun-chise, a hermit of the hills who came forward at the behest of Mrs. Burns and revealed he had seen the entire torturing of Franklin.

He said he watched the proceedings from behind a tree. First the men took turns slugging Franklin. Then another mutilated him with a knife. They tossed him on the fire. He rolled off, begging for mercy. They tossed him again into the flames.

Sheriff Sam Johnson said he feared for his witnesses, since many of the hill folk are undecided whether he or the Cagin and Dry Creek clans "is the law." They may be silenced on threats of being driven from their squalid hill homes in which they had lived for generations.

George Bernard Shaw Gets in a Jam with Crowd and Royalty

London, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — George Bernard Shaw did a rare thing last night. He admitted that he had met a more important person than himself. But for his attempts to be deferential to the Prince of Wales, he received only the hisses of an audience which mis-constructed his motive.

The incident occurred during a charity boxing tournament. One of the tourney's sponsors went to Shaw's aide and asked him to present the prizes to the winners.

Shaw refused. Three members of the Prince of Wales' party joined in the request and while Shaw expostulated, the prince cast several glances in the direction of the critic.

Shaw then refused emphatically and the audience drew their own conclusion—that Shaw had refused to meet the heir to Britain's throne. The hissing began and grew steadily in volume.

Shaw, later explaining his action to newspapermen, said: "As the prince was present it was hardly correct for me to present the prizes. Besides, the boxers wanted to receive the prizes from the prince."

EVERY HOUSEWIFE SHOULD HAVE TWO WEEKS VACATION

Washington, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Every housewife is entitled to two weeks vacation each year, in the opinion of Secretary of Labor Davis.

Secretary Davis, in a radio address last night, termed the wife of the working man "the greatest, busiest executive in the world."

C. J. McNAIR, EARLY PAPER FIGURE, DIES

FUNERAL HELD THIS AFTER- NOON AT DANVILLE, NEW YORK

WAS PROMINENT FIGURE IN MINNEAPOLIS AND MINNE- SOTA PAPER INDUSTRY

Clarence I. McNair of Dansville, N. Y., a prominent figure in the paper industry of Minneapolis and Minnesota some 35 years ago, died Tuesday at his home in Dansville, after 10 days' illness of pneumonia, according to word reaching Minneapolis Wednesday. Mr. McNair was associated with the late B. F. Nelson of Minneapolis in several business enterprises and was a member of the Minnesota highway commission during the seven years of his residence in the state.

Mr. McNair was 70 years old, having been born in Scottsburg, N. Y., in 1859 the son of David McNair. When he was four years old, his parents moved to Dansville. Ten years later, he began work with the Woodruff Paper Co., and later, with his father, assumed its management.

In 1887, Mr. McNair came to Minneapolis and secured a position with the Nelson-Spencer Paper Co., now the B. F. Nelson Manufacturing Co. Five years later, he joined with Mr. Nelson in forming the Hennepin Paper Co. of Little Falls, Minn. In 1893, he organized the Northwest Paper Co. at Cloquet, Minn., and became its vice president and manager, but after five years resigned because of ill health and moved back to Dansville.

Mr. McNair was a close friend of John Barton Payne, national chairman of the American Red Cross, and was a member of the executive committee of the Clara Barton chapter of the organization. He was a director of the Dansville General Hospital and of the Union Hose Co. and a member of the Rotary club, board of trade, St. Peter's Memorial Episcopal church and Masonic orders.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ann Eiselbe McNair; two sons, Clarence I. Jr., of Cloquet, Minn., and William McNair of Philadelphia, and two daughters, Mrs. George Stillman of Duluth and Mrs. John Hume of Panama. Funeral services for Mr. McNair were held this afternoon and he was buried at Dansville.

34 PEOPLE LOST AS JAPANESE SHIP SINKS

Tokio, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Twelve passengers and 22 members of the crew of the coastwise vessel Tsurushi Maru were drowned off the city of Ehime last night when the 250-ton ship grounded and sank immediately.

Thirty-two passengers were rescued by a motor launch and taken to Ehime. All of the crew were drowned.

Shoots and Hacks Her Alleged Lover to Death

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Mrs. Blanche Hall, 37, shot and hacked Herman A. McClain, 28, her alleged lover, to death here today and then wounded herself.

McKINLEY IS PHOTOGRAPHER OF AIR DASH

FLIGHT COVERS 1,600 MILES TO SOUTH POLE AND RETURN

BIG TRI-MOTORED FORD PLANE CARRIES BYRD AND HIS THREE AIDES

New York, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — The New York Times, the St. Louis Post Dispatch and the newspapers affiliated with them in publishing reports from Commander Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition have announced that Commander Byrd started from his base, Little America in the Antarctic, at 3:29 P. M. yesterday (10:29 P. M. EST.) on a 1,600-mile flight to the South Pole and back.

Commander Byrd, who is flying with Bernt Balchen as pilot, Harold Gatty as radio operator and Captain Ashley C. McKinley as photographer, in a big tri-motored Ford airplane, expected to be in direct communication throughout the flight with the New York Times radio station in New York, as well as with his base, and to report his progress regularly.

If the flight is successful Byrd should return to his base within 24 hours.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, making the first attempt to reach the South Pole by air, would be expected to reach his objective about mid-morning today (EST.) if all went well and the big plane maintained an average of about 100 miles an hour.

The distance of about 800 miles from Byrd's base at Little America to the South Pole presented the possibility of changing weather conditions—probably similar to the uncertainty of Arctic flying but given good weather the tri-motored plane should cover the distance to the Pole in nine or ten hours.

The Byrd flight, like his daring trip to the North Pole, had been carefully prepared but the departure came as a surprise, presumably because he waited for favorable weather conditions and made his departure suddenly.

Balchen was at the controls when the party left Little America last night—the summer weather providing daylight—for the South Pole.

Byrd is a skillful pilot but his principal duty on such flights is navigation. It will be his job to find the point somewhere in the desolate Antarctic plains and hills which is the South Pole.

Washington, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — The Rev. Father Francis A. Torndorf, 59, famed astronomer and professor at Georgetown university, was found dead in his room here today, a victim of heart attack. He achieved nationwide fame in 1925 by reporting the disastrous earthquake in Tokyo from readings on the university seismograph three hours before the arrival of news dispatches.

They were unable to make a refueling contact because the motor of the refueling plane went dead. They descended at 3:45 a. m. Pacific standard time.

They said they probably will try again Saturday.

BODIES OF 75 AMERICAN SOLDIERS RETURNED TO U. S.

RECLAIMED AT LAST FROM THE FROZEN SIBERIAN SOIL WHERE THEY FELL

TOOK PART IN THE ARCHANGEL CAMPAIGN OVER ELEVEN YEARS AGO

New York, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Reclaimed at last from the frozen Siberian soil on which they fell in the Archangel campaign more than 11 years ago, the bodies of 75 of America's world war dead were returned today to the land for which they died.

Probably the last of the A. E. F. dead to be brought back to this country, they were honored not only by delegations of veterans from their home cities and states — especially from Michigan, from which most of them came — but by representatives of the military forces of the nation and the city of New York as well.

The liner President Roosevelt, bearing the flag-draped caskets, slipped into quarantine in the early hours of the morning, nearly a day late, because of storms encountered on the Atlantic. Shortly after dawn the destroyer Kang and the city tug Macon, their flags at half-mast, met the liner and steamed in slow procession up the bay. On board the Macon, scene of many a joyful welcome home, was a delegation of nearly 200, including about 50 representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars from Detroit.

This time, however, the Macon's mission was one of solemn tribute. No sirens signalled her progress, no fire boats played their streams about her or the President Roosevelt, no gay bunting flew from her masts. The Macon's only flags were those at half-mast and as the skyline of Manhattan came into view the flags on public buildings there were dipped in mourning, too.

At the pier in Hoboken, N. J., across the Hudson river from Manhattan, where the President Roosevelt docked, the first of a series of services for the dead was conducted. Then the caskets were transferred to a special train and taken to Pennsylvania station in New York, where a guard of honor will stand over them until Saturday.

Tomorrow morning, after further services, the special funeral train will start for Detroit with the bodies of the Michigan dead and the others will be taken in charge by delegations from their homes. Three who fell in Siberia, will find their last resting place in Arlington National Cemetery, others will go to Chicago, Wisconsin, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Montana.

The 75 bodies were brought back to America largely through the efforts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to Paul C. Wolman, national vice commander, who took part in the services. The graves registration bureau of the war department and unofficial representatives of the Soviet government aided it. Of the 75 bodies, 31 are still unidentified. Among the identified bodies and the places to which they will be taken are:

Elmer E. Specher, Louis A. Seymans and James T. West, Arlington Cemetery; John T. Henley and Sylvester Paprzycki, Chicago; Corporal William J. Lehman, Danville, Ill.; Frank J. Mueller, Marshallfield, Wis.; John E. Shaughnessy, Missoula, Montana; Laurence Wadsworth, Aurora, Indiana.

Fifty-six bodies, including the unidentified, will be placed in a mausoleum in White Chapel cemetery at Detroit until next Memorial Day, when they will be buried in a special plot.

13 Jurors Do Not Believe It Morally Wrong to Drink

St. Paul, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Thirteen prospective jurors told Judge W. A. Cant in federal court here today that they do not believe it morally wrong to drink.

The question was submitted to each juror during the selection of a jury to try Phillip Share, Isador Powell and Robert Burman on charges of conspiracy and transporting liquor.

All of the talesmen denied membership in the Anti-Saloon league.

CASUALTIES ARE REPORTED, BUT NO DEFINITE ESTIMATE

MOST DAMAGE IS DONE TO RAIL STATION 325 MILES WEST OF HARBIN

CHINA ASKS JOINT COMMISSION TO SETTLE BORDER SITUATION

Harbin, Manchuria, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Twelve Soviet airplanes crossed eastward along the Chinese Eastern railway, bombing a railroad station about 325 miles west of Harbin, advices received here today said.

Several casualties were reported although the advice gave no definite estimate of them.

Tsai Yun-Sheng, Manchurian representative in scheduled peace negotiations with Russia at Habarovsk, arrived today from Mukden. It was understood here that he would open peace conversations under instructions of the Chinese nationalist government.

The distance given in the above dispatch would place the scene of the bombing attack somewhere near the city of Hallar, which was evacuated by the Chinese last week and was bombed several times by the Soviet troops which had advanced within a short distance of the city.

Shanghai, Nov. 29. — Acting under instructions from Nanking, Chiang Tio-Ping, Chinese minister at Berlin today forwarded a proposal for a joint commission to determine responsibility for the border situation in Manchuria, to the Soviet government through the German ambassador at Moscow.

The proposal suggested the formation of a committee composed of an equal number of Chinese and Russian delegates, headed by a chairman from some neutral country, to investigate the China-Russian situation.

Included in the proposal was the suggestion that each of the countries withdraw troops 30 miles each side of the Manchurian border, pending settlement of the problem.

Washington, Nov. 29. — Authoritative dispatches received in Washington today indicated quieting conditions in northern Manchuria, where press reports have said Soviet Russia and China had engaged in hostilities and were on the verge of war. Tension in Harbin was reported to have relaxed.

These dispatches unreservedly blamed disorganized Chinese soldiers for burning, looting and killing during the Russo-Chinese disturbance and indicated the Russians had withdrawn from Manchuria except for garrisons at Chalinor and Manchul. There was a possibility, dispatches said, that the Russians may have withdrawn from those places also.

Responsibility for damage to mines at Chalinor had not been definitely fixed, but refugees arriving at Mukden fixed, but refugees arriving at Harbin agreed all other excess had been by demoralizing Chinese soldiers who were deserted by their commanding officer at Hallar.

POSTPONE PROBLEM OF SOVEREIGNTY IN POLAR REGIONS

Washington, Nov. 29. — (U.P.) — Adjustment of the muddled problem of sovereignty in the polar regions has been postponed by the United States refusal to dispute the issue with Great Britain at this time.

An Anglo-American dispute over sovereign claims would have been inharmonious with the era of good feeling being fostered by President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald. The interest of a naval agreement, the state department further considered polar lands at this time as of unproven value and, therefore, presumably not worth arguing about.

In an exchange of notes, however, Under Secretary of State Cotton has carefully abstained from waiving American claims or approving British claims to vast areas in the Antarctic where Commander Richard E. Byrd now is engaged on the most comprehensive of polar expeditions. Byrd's claims for the government will depend, it is believed, on the extent to which polar regions valuable as aerial routes between the hemispheres, as whaling and sealing preserves and as fields for mining.

On April 5 the United Press exclusively revealed Great Britain had sent a note to the United States offering any possible assistance to Byrd and further, laying claim to most of the south polar region.

Seven months later Under Secretary Cotton replied in a note in which he dodged the dispute, leaving the question of the sovereignty exactly where it had been. This reply was sent Nov. 15. It neither agreed nor attempted to refute British claims but left the matter in such shape American rights would not be jeopardized if future claims are made.

Dictating Business Letters While Aboard the "Smiling Thru"

"Smiling Thru," a Travelair monoplane carrying Harry L. Ogg, president of the Automatic Washing Machine Company, and his secretary, Miss Katherine McBride, both of Newton, Iowa, arrived in the city, landing at Rosko field at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Walter Moerke, Brainerd, who is employed at Little Falls, made the trip from the down river city with Mr. Ogg, Miss McBride and the pilot, Wilford Gerbracht.

The plane is the same model as the one flown by Art Goebel in his San Francisco to Honolulu flight, "Smiling Thru," although only three months old, has flown some 27,000 miles and has carried over 3,000 passengers, in trips to promote the Automatic Washing Machine. The plane at one time carried Gary Cooper, famous screen star, from Kansas City to Chicago, to Tampa, Fla., where Cooper visited Lupe Velez, motion picture actress.

Wilford Gerbracht, the pilot, has successfully piloted transport planes for the past five years, and has been in the air over 1,700 hours.

Mr. Ogg was on his way to Duluth with the latest model of the Automatic Washer. He stopped Tuesday evening at Little Falls and came on to Brainerd Wednesday morning. He left for Duluth Wednesday afternoon.

The plane is very well equipped on the inside. It contains office equipment and room for four passengers and the pilot. Two seats are reversible, allowing four passengers to face the table. The office equipment can be removed, allowing five passengers and the pilot. Or the seats can be removed and room is left for three washing machines, a salesman and the pilot, for air express service.

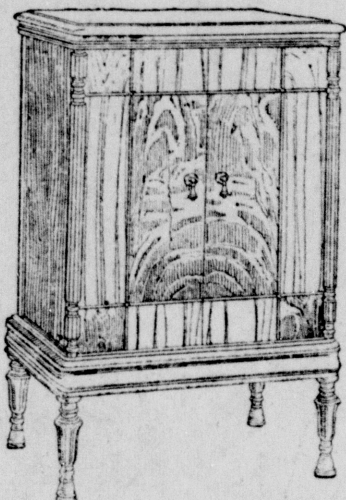

The equipment includes electric starter, landing lights, navigation lights, electric cigar lighters, safety metal ash trays, roll curtains, cabin heaters, complete lavatory with running water, office cabinet and desk, electric Ediphone, a portable typewriter, moving picture equipment, lunch kit, vanity cases, high back seats with head rests and adjustable backs and a safety belt at each seat.

The plane is wired for a radio and that convenience will be added soon to the other equipment. There is also night flying equipment.

Mr. Ogg and the pilot gave courtesy rides over the city Wednesday morning to six employees of the Gateway Electric Company and a Brainerd Daily Dispatch reporter.

Icy Roads Call for Caution

Icy roads, whether gravel or concrete, city or country, call for careful driving. So many accidents have been reported in the past three days that no newspaper can record them all.

Drivers returning to Brainerd Sunday night saw many cars between Minneapolis and Elk River, upended and lying in the ditch. Icy streets in the city caused cars to whirl about and in some instances to strike curbs and break wheels or do other damage.

An icy street offers little footing and a heavy car becomes an instrument of destruction for those within or those with which it comes into contact.

Drive slowly. You will then do no damage to yourself or others.

We have put the Fourth of July on a safe and sane basis and a plan will now be in order to make our Halloween travel in the same class as the glorious Fourth.

THE Evening Republican of Mitchell, S. D., published a 48-page special edition, fiftieth anniversary golden jubilee, on November 18.

THOSE traffic signs on a number of through streets have not been placed to warn tourists and other strangers entering from side streets.

"The Masked Hostess"

by BLAIR STEVENSON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

An old abandoned Long Island estate, "The Firs," is the only inheritance Nathalie Van Slaick finds has been left by her once wealthy sportsman father, "Happy Jack" Van Slaick. Repulsed by her rich aunt, Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, Nathalie, in desperation, cashes a check knowing she has no funds in the bank. With no other resources, Nathalie agrees to act as hostess to a rich South American, Capt. Ramon Stefano, who has taken over "The Firs" supposedly to entertain his wealthy friends. She does this on one condition, that she is to remain masked and her identity to remain a secret. John Sloan, young lawyer, assigned to care for Nathalie's affairs, has fallen in love with Nathalie. Without her knowledge, Sloan has made good the false check. He warns her of this strange venture she is about to embark upon, fearing her romantic nature will force her to capitulate to Stefano's charm and the spirit of adventure attending her unusual position. Neither of them knows that Stefano is without funds and is being financed by Ferris, a New York ex-policeman, who wishes to locate Nathalie and obtain possession of "The Firs" knowing that a new state road will enhance its value. Long Island's wealthiest society people attend the opening of "The Firs" and are intrigued by the Masked Hostess, who is disguised as a black-haired senorita. Nathalie is delighted when none of her friends recognize her. Nathalie fascinated by the handsome Stefano, finds herself in his arms, but quickly eludes him as his lips reach for hers. Next day receiving an advance payment of $1,000, Nathalie goes to Brookville to the bank. She meets John Sloan.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XX

"FLINTSTONE," Mrs. Pemberton Swayne's estate at Westbury, where she usually tarried a few weeks between her residence at Southampton and the place at Lenox where she invariably spent the late Autumn, was in flawless running order.

The lawns, like green carpet, for the Summer had been pleteous with rain, ran down from the house to high hedges which screened the grounds from the contaminating gaze of passing motorists. The shrubbery had four men to attend it. The house, of deep brown shingles and with orange awnings, was almost vocal of the fact that it had been designed by New York's most fashionable architect. Within it, its furnishings and equipment were impeccable to the last match tray. And all within it waited and hung upon the least word or implied command of Mrs. Pemberton Swayne.

She was slim and youthful looking as she lay on a wicker chaise longue—made to her order at Canton—which had been placed for her on one of Flintstone's many porches. The warm Autumn sun, filtering through one of the orange awnings, enhanced the specious youthfulness of her. She had had a reasonably agreeable morning, for she had been ironic with her social secretary, had rimanded two servants and dismissed another, and had told the butler to cut from the list of the house's tradesmen a man who had sent some celery of which she disliked the flavor.

But she was in ill humor for all of that. She had reached "Flintstone" only the night before in a luxurious car driven by a French chauffeur, but she had found the journey from Southampton uninteresting for much of the way and once her car had been kept waiting for a few minutes at a grade crossing. She glanced at her social secretary, when that young woman brought her a copy of Gotham Topics, with a special lift of brows expressing the fact that she was more than commonly annoyed.

"Why," she demanded, in her coldest voice, do you bring me this when you must be aware that I am much too tired to care to see it?"

The social secretary, however, left it, understanding fully that she would only be more deeply in her employer's ill graces if she took it away.

Mrs. Pemberton Swayne fell to a perusal of it at once after the secretary had gone. For in nearly every issue is contained an item or more which fed her self-approval and in addition, in the main, the gossip it purveyed was reliable. She liked its bits of malice too. So far its editors had never dared to take any liberty in writing of her.

She read the following prescription. It was what she had expected to find, and it suited her exactly except that there was not much more of it:

"Mrs. Pemberton Swayne and her four lovely daughters are at 'Flintstone,' Mrs. Swayne's Westbury place, having removed to there from 'The Links' at Southampton, where she always keeps her household in early September. Her arrival at Westbury, it need not be said, is notice to society that the Long Island Autumn season is actually at hand."

That was all right. There was another paragraph about somebody else and then this, which brought her upright among her pillows in speechless fury:

"The methods are devious and interesting, and often most amusing, by which, as we look about us, we find certain of the shrewder ones in high society disposing of country estates no longer wanted because of the scarcity and high cost of capable servants, or because the places they would be quit of are located in neighborhoods no longer desired by the smart."

"A pet trick is to open some unused house and give a series of vivid entertainments in it—and then, while it is being talked about, unload it on some climber outside the walls who imagines he or she can buy his or her way in by paying the stiff price invariably asked for the unwieldy property."

"Recently a shabby old Long Island place has received as its tenant a certain widely known sportsman whose gay parties—aye and whose ravishing hostess—have become the talk of country and town. We suspect the clever hand of a highly placed matron—not unknown to be not averse to making two dollars grow where only one grew before—as that behind the dashing horseman who is making society talk. If a sale can be stimulated it will remove from the lady's conscience the problem of the support of one of her young women relatives who recently became burdened with the place by inheritance. Meantime has cold commerce blinded the eyes of the lady we mean to the chance that the sportsman-host we write of may depart eventually for regions beneath the equator with his hostess as his bride rather than one of the four lovely daughters of the matron we imagine to be his co-partner in a bit of real estate promotion? We wonder."

She did not summon a servant but went herself to the file of Gotham Topics which she had currently with her. A copy of the preceding week's issue was in its place and she consulted it carefully, realizing as she did so that she had missed seeing it when it reached Southampton. And also realizing that it must contain something to distress her and that some one—one of her daughters probably—had purposely kept it out of her sight.

She found almost at once the couple of paragraphs in it which had announced the rental of "The Firs" by Stefano and told of his masked hostess.

Then she summoned a servant and asked him to find Miss Sylvia—the daughter she had meant to marry to Stefano—if Miss Sylvia were anywhere about.

The servant went out to a tennis court where Sylvia sat under a canopied pavilion with another girl and two young men with whom she had been playing doubles.

"Oh, brother," she said when the servant gave his message. And when he had gone, "Now, of course, Mother's going to try and put the bee on it." It was she who had hidden the copy of Gotham Topics which her mother had missed seeing, not lest it distress Mrs. Swayne, but because, on the contrary, Sylvia wanted to pay a clandestine visit to "The Firs" and see the masked hostess before her mother "put the bee on it." She knew as she went toward the house to talk to her mother that Mrs. Swayne would be in a fury and would dissemble it, and that she would surely go to "The Firs" and see the mysterious masked hostess for herself. She was right in all three conjectures.

"This shocking South American person and the resort he is conducting," said Mrs. Swayne languidly, looking up from her long chair as Sylvia came in to her. "It has just come across my mind again, now that we are back in the near neighborhood of 'The Firs'—you know about the place of course, everybody does."

"Of course," agreed Sylvia, "and everybody's going there. Everybody who's anybody, anyway."

"Not really?" and Mrs. Swayne's brows went up a shade more; "I had imagined that only South Americans could be induced to go near it. But if, as you say, other people go there too I was thinking that perhaps we ought to look in some night when I am not too tired. If only as a matter of duty, since the place is Nathalie's and they may be sending it apart." And when Sylvia went out to report the glad tidings to her friends at the tennis court Mrs. Swayne closed her eyes and considered briefly if it might be worth her while to purchase "The Firs" from Nathalie and resell it at a profit to one of the social climbers Gotham Topics had written about. But after further brief consideration, in terms of dollars, she decided it would not.

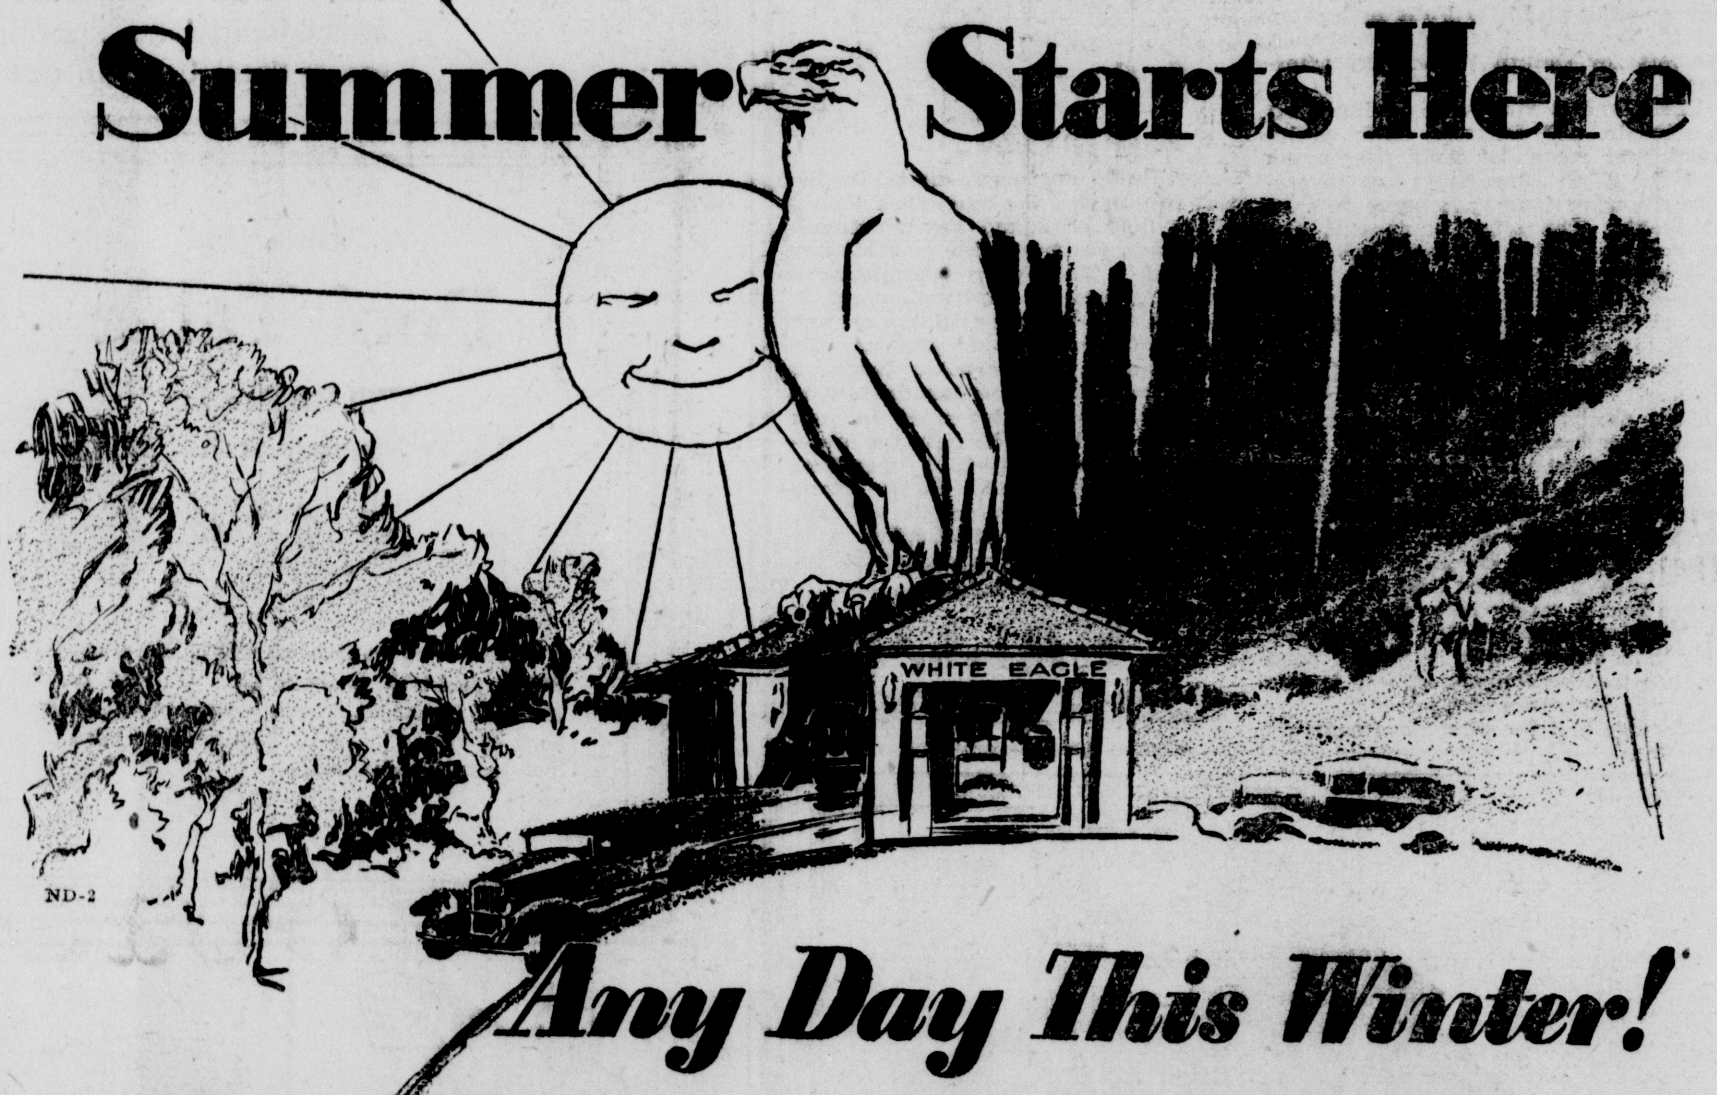

Jack Ferris, reading Gotham Topics at that moment in a speaking New York, was not left as calm as Mrs. Swayne by the article he found in it. He cursed softly and decided he had better go out to Long Island personally and give Stefano and "The Firs" the once-over. He replaced Gotham Topics carefully in his pocket.

"The editor of it ought to be in jail," he growled to himself. "He's puttin' ideas into Pound's head."

He was wrong as to Pound, though. Gotham Topics retailed at fifty cents a copy and Pound never read it—never even saw it.

NOTRE DAME BATTLES THE ARMY AT NEW YORK TOMORROW

COACH ROCKNE UNABLE TO BE IN ATTENDANCE

DOUGHTY LEADER IS BACK IN SOUTH BEND NURSING IN-FECTED LEG

TEAM IS ACCOMPANIED BY TIM
MOYNIHAN, CRACK CENTER
WHOSE LEG WAS BROKEN

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Editor)
New York, Nov. 28.—Without their coach, Knute K. Rockne, who is back in South Bend nursing an infected leg, the Notre Dame football squad arrived here today for its annual game against Army at Yankee Stadium tomorrow.

The team was accompanied by Tim Moynihan, crack center whose leg was broken in the Northwestern game and the only member of the squad not reported in shape to play.

Unbeaten and untied, the Irish must handle Army to wind up one of the greatest football seasons any team ever experienced since the forward pass made it possible for all things to happen on the gridiron. It was a forward pass which enabled Notre Dame to beat Army, 12 to 6, last season.

Notre Dame is a strong favorite to add Army to its long list of victims this season. In some quarters the odds were as long as 2½ to 1 on the Irish.

Army, beaten in its big games by Yale and Illinois and tied by Harvard, 20-20, hasn't seemed able to cash in on its potentialities. The main reason is because Chris Cagle, All-American back, hasn't been right at the crucial moments.

The Army team left West Point early today for New York after taking the final workout yesterday at home.

Neither team was expected to practice today. Dick O'Keefe, Army back who was reported out of the game with injuries, was in the lineup yesterday and probably will start.

As for tickets, anything inside the 20-yard lines will bring you $50 each if you don't care about seeing the game. Ticket speculators report the greatest demand for tickets in the history of any sporting event in New York City. A crowd of 80,000 will jam the Yankees' ball park.

PITTSBURGH IN A FINAL RALLY OVERCOMES PENN

PUG PARKINSON, PITTS' FULL-
BACK, SCORES EVERY ONE OF TEAM'S 20 POINTS

IN SOUTH, TENNESSEE FLINGS A
40-YARD PASS TO THE KEN-
TUCKY, 6-6, IN TWILIGHT

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 28.—Dramatic events marked the close of the football season except for a few scattered games Saturday and next month.

Pittsburgh, the east's most powerful eleven, had to make a final-half rally to overcome Penn State's 7 to 6 lead and beat the Nittany Lions, 20 to 7.

Toby Uansa, Pitt's great halfback, held the candle for Pug Parkinson, Pitt's 200-pound fullback, who scored every one of his team's 20 points.

Down south Tennessee had to fling a 40-yard pass in the twilight to tie Kentucky, 6 to 6, and save off its first defeat in three years. Kentucky gained 228 yards to Tennessee's 76.

Tulane completed its season undefeated by scoring a 21 to 0 victory over Louisiana State and virtually clinched the southern title.

Captain Thad Bock of Davidson College made a 102-yard run against Georgia, but failed to score a touchdown. He ran from eight yards behind his own goal line to Duke's 6-yard line. Davidson won, 13 to 12.

Dick Gentle, Penn's brilliant halfback and new captain, caught the opening kick-off of the second half and ran 101 yards for a touchdown against Cornell. The run and kick after the touchdown wiped out Cornell's 7 to 0 lead and sent Penn on to win, 17 to 7.

Colgate established itself as one of the east's best teams by overwhelming Brown, 32 to 0, the game ending in a blinding snowstorm.

Western Maryland beat Muhlenberg 7 to 0, when Charlie Bates, United Press All-Eastern end, caught two long passes, and won its tenth straight game of the season.

Clark Hinkle, Bucknell fullback and United Press All-Eastern back, scored eight touchdowns and 50 points as his team smashed Dickinson, 78 to 0, giving him the eastern individual scoring lead with 128 points.

Beryl Follett, New York University's star halfback, broke his leg in the first few plays of the game and Carnegie Tech beat the Violets, 20 to 0.

In the far west St. Mary's (California) crushed the U. of Oregon, 31 to 6, but the Gaels had their goal line crossed for the first time this season.

California beat Montana, 14 to 0. Nebraska, Big Six champion, closed its season with a 31-12 victory over Iowa State. Missouri clinched second place in the Big Six by beating Oklahoma, 13 to 0.

An 85-yard run by John Sisk for a touchdown featured Marquette's 25 to 6 victory over the Kansas Aggies in an intercollegiate game.

Georgia's erratic football eleven topped Alabama, 12 to 0. North Carolina crushed Virginia, 41-7. Vanderbilt downed Sewanee, 28 to 6. Florida beat Washington & Lee, 25 to 7, and V. M. Duke, but failed to score a touchdown. He ran from eight yards behind his own goal line to Duke's 6-yard line. Davidson won, 13 to 12.

The Texas Aggies sprang a big surprise by defeating the U. of Texas, 13 to 0, in the southwest's outstanding

TUFFY GRIFFITH WILL BATTLE PAOLINO UZCUDUN

BATTLING BASQUE BY FAR THE BEST HEAVYWEIGHT OPPON-ENT TO COME HIS WAY

FIRST TIME IN SEVERAL FIGHTS,
GRIFFITH WILL BE UNDER-
DOG WHEN BELL RINGS

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Nov. 28.—(U.P.)—Gerald Ambrose (Tuffy) Griffith will attempt to demonstrate tonight that he merits consideration as a leading contender for the "big money" boxing championship which Gene Tunney—after he had made a million dollars out of it—so nonchalantly cast aside.

Tuffy, will meet Paolino Uzcudun, the battling Basque, by far the best heavyweight opponent who has come his way; and, for the first time in several fights, Griffith will be the underdog when the starting bell rings.

Paolino was a 7-5 favorite, with the betting not overly heavy. Uzcudun will have some 15 pounds weight advantage. He was expected to weigh in the neighborhood of 198 pounds while Griffith probably will weigh only 183.

There is talk of matching the winner of the bout with Von Porat, but Matchmaker Nate Lewis of the Chicago stadium said no definite action has been taken toward this although he would not be adverse to it. If Griffith should win there is little doubt but what Von Porat and Tuffy could sell out the Chicago stadium's 25,000 seating capacity. Both are local favorites and excellent drawing cards.

The ticket sale for tonight's fight fell off considerably during the recent stock market slump but it has picked up during the past three or four days and stadium officials expected to draw in the neighborhood of $85,000 tonight.

FISHING BARRED ON SOME LAKES

A. P. Cardle Receives Word From the State Game Commissioner to Close Certain Lakes

A. P. Cardle, deputy game warden, received word here today from the commissioner of game and fish, department of conservation, that certain lakes in this district will be closed to fishing, becoming effective on December 1.

In Crow Wing county Lower Bay Lake, the north half of Pelican Lake and the stream forming connecting water between Upper and Lower Long Lakes are closed to any manner of fishing.

The list of lakes closed to angling but in which the use of fish houses will be permitted include Bay Lake, Maple Lake, and Long Lake in Section 1, Township 45, Range 28.

Several lakes are affected in the clause including lakes closed to the use of fish houses and spearing through the ice. They are: Barber Lake, Borden Lake, Crooked Lake in Township 43, North Range 28, Holt Lake, Smith Lake, Kenny Lake, one-half of Edwards Lake, Sand Bar (or Big Horseshoe), one-half of Long Lake (near Merrifield). This means that the end of Long Lake near Merrifield is open and the end near George West's is open, but the big part of the lake is closed.

MRS. ERICKSON IS GIVEN $3000 VERDICT

Jury Also Returns Verdict in Favor of Northland Transportation

McFERRAN CASE POSTPONED

James Poulis Sentenced to Six Months in Jail and Fined $250

Mrs. Florence Erickson of Ironton was awarded $3,000 against W. P. Tyrholm and B. C. Pulkrebek, co-partners in the Tee Pee Oil Company, by a Crow Wing county jury in district court here late Wednesday evening. The jury also returned a verdict in favor of the Northland Transportation company, defendants.

The case went to the jury 5:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and they reached their verdict after a deliberation of nearly six hours.

Mrs. Erickson asked for $10,000 for injuries received when a bus in which she was a passenger collided with the Tee Pee Oil Company truck two miles east of Brainerd on Oak street highway on August 21, 1929. She brought suit against both the Tee Pee Oil Company and the Northland Transportation company.

This was the last jury case to be tried at this term of court and court was adjourned until Monday, January 6, 1930 at 1:30 P. M. At that time the court calendar will be taken up again with Judge Graham Torrance on the bench.

In the case of James Poulis vs. the State of Minnesota in which the defendant was charged with the sale of intoxicating liquor the Crosby man was allowed to change his plea of not guilty to guilty. He was sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $250 and in case of default of the fine, an additional 60 days in the county jail. He received this sentence because of a prior conviction.

In the case of the State of Minnesota vs. Dwight McFerran, a short hearing was given in district court Wednesday at 1 p. m. McFerran, who is charged with manslaughter in the second degree resulting from the death of Lucille Preston, Brainerd high school girl, in an automobile accident on Ash Ave., was not present in court but was represented by his legal counsel, Attorney M. E. Ryan of the firm of Ryan, Ryan and Ryan. The court having been fully advised of the premises in the case postponed the trial until the May term of court in 1930 because of McFerran's condition.
